Boston, Jan. 18 (AP)—Crack FBI agents joined today in a manhunt for a bandit gang that got away with $1,500,000—a million dollars of it in cash—in one of the biggest robberies in the nation's history.

A spokesman for Brink's, Inc., operators of the money transportation firm robbed, said a $100,000 reward would be offered for capture of the bandits. "We have not worked out the details of setting up the reward yet," he said. "But we will offer this reward."

Working smoothly, the robbers escaped last night without leaving a single clue. Hours later, Police Supt. Edward J. Fallon said "we have little or nothing to work on."

Hold Eight Suspects
Eight suspects were being held but police officials indicated they had little to pin on them—at this time anyway. All except one are ex-convicts—rounded up as "types" for such a holdup.

The seven soft-shoed gunmen—all wearing Halloween-type masks and Navy peajackets—left behind another million dollars in cash only because their hands were full.

Like a movie thriller, they sneaked through six locked doors to reach the vaults of a money transportation firm surprising five cashiers and guards before they could reach for their own shotguns.

20-Minute Precision Raid
An alarm giving descriptions of the desperados was sounded along the entire eastern seaboard while this city's police began one of the biggest roundups of underworld characters ever undertaken. FBI agents across the country were alerted because Federal Reserve bank funds were included in the loot.

Ellis Hult, vice president of the Boston Federal Reserve, said that the looted money transportation firm handles the delivery of funds of a number of member banks.

The gunmen—in a 20-minute precision raid—snatched the money from an open vault in the sprawling waterfront garage of Brink's, Inc., a money transportation firm, after gagging and trussing five employees last night.

Along with the million in cash the gangsters grabbed $500,000 in checks.

Chase Vain Clues
Cruiser cars raced through the city and outlying districts during the night running down a number of tips that proved worthless.

Shortly after the holdup, police chased at break-neck speed a five-passenger black Cadillac sedan thought to be the getaway car. They lost it in the city's west Roxbury district.

Police believed the car, bearing stolen registration plates, headed for Providence, R. I. The plates (Mass. 156,533) were stolen in Boston last week, police said.

Used Master Key
"It's very obvious," Police Supt. Edward W. Fallon said, "that these men used a master key to open all those doors." The gunmen went through six locked doors before reaching the vault where they cowed five employees.

While husky patrolmen toured the city's underworld spots picking up suspects, alarms sounded descriptions of the holdupmen along the eastern seaboard. Eleven men were taken to headquarters for (Please Turn to Page 2)

The mayor of historic Vincennes, Ind., issued a special second call for volunteer flood fighters in his endangered city on the banks of the Wabash.

The Army sent the bulldozers and earth movers to the levee tops of the Birds Point-New Madrid floodway. There the crews will await orders either to blast out sections of the levee, or set their machines chewing into the massive earthen flood-wall.

Lawmakers Worried Over Awful Power Of "H" Bomb; Hear Military View Soon

By ELTON C. FAY

(Associated Press Military Reporter)
Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—Lawmakers concerned about the awful possibilities of an "H-bomb"—maybe a thousand times as ruinous as an A-bomb—are to get the military's views on it tomorrow.

Some conservative estimates rate such a hydrogen bomb as "only" twice as powerful as the city-smashing atomic bomb.

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, the nation's top military man, is expected to testify before the Senate-House Atomic Energy committee at that time, behind locked doors.

Capital Is Upset

An undercover quarrel over what to do about making, or not making, a super-destructive bomb powered by hydrogen already has the capital upset.

The Atomic committee finds it itself in the middle of the controversy. It has asked defense, diplomatic and atomic experts to give their advice. Some experts from the Atomic Energy commission were on its list for a private session this afternoon.

Up until now the argument has gone on in the top-secret levels of the administration and Congress. It has now become so bitter and the factors involved so fundamental that some of the participants are inclined to bring the row out before the public. The big, and necessarily long, question is this:

EXCHANGE CLUB HEARS TALK ON PA. FARM SHOW

"A total of $53,000 was spent this year for premiums alone at the Pennsylvania State Farm show in Harrisburg, compared with a little over $700 which the state spent on the first farm show in 1917," Ira N. Dummire, assistant Adams county farm extension agent, told members of the Exchange club at its weekly meeting Tuesday night at Banker's restaurant.

"This $53,000 in premium money may seem like a lot, but it is spread thinly. The largest single premium award at the show is the $100 awarded for the largest and best 5-bushel display of apples. The top animal in the dairy herd exhibit wins only $30. The idea of the show is the pride in the excellence of exhibits rather than monetary reward," Dummire said.

"The Pennsylvania Farm show had a small beginning in 1917," the speaker continued. "The first show was held in the warehouse of one of the Harrisburg implement dealers. Its growth up to 1931 was gradual. It was held in the market house and various other places, so that if you wanted to see all the Farm show you had to visit several sites."

ATTY. C. W. WOLF WILL RESUME PRACTICE HERE

Attorney Charles W. Wolf has resigned his position as attorney and legal advisor to the commanding general, United States Air Forces in Europe, Wiesbaden, Germany, to return to the private practice of law here. It was announced today.

Attorney Wolf, a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Guy Wolf, East Lincoln avenue, arrived at Westover Field, Mass., Tuesday by military aircraft from Frankfurt, Germany. In the near future he will reopen here the law practice he closed June 1, 1942, upon entering the military service. Except for a short leave to the United States in the spring of 1948, Attorney Wolf had been overseas in a military or civilian capacity with the Air Force since February, 1945. He had resigned his position once before in the spring of 1949 but because of the extra work arising in connection with the Berlin Airlift was urged to reconsider his decision and withdrew his resignation.

Left Army In 1947

Mr. Wolf accepted his civilian position with the Air Force Headquarters in Europe, on February 17, 1947, upon his discharge from the military service in Frankfurt, Germany. He first served as attorney for Lt. General Curtis E. LeMay, then commanding general of the air forces in Europe, and now commanding general of the Strategic Air Command.

Following the unification of the armed forces in 1947, Mr. Wolf wrote and prepared to a large extent the military justice regulations for the air forces in Europe. Those regulations became the standing operating procedure in the administration of military justice until the Air Force promulgated its new manual for courts-martial in 1949.

DRIVER SCHOOL IS OPENED BY FIRE COMPANY

The first of a series of "schools" for drivers of the Gettysburg Fire department pumps was held Tuesday night at the engine house.

Assistant Fire Chief Donald Jacobs was in charge of instructing drivers in the use of centrifugal pumps, and instruction on rotary pumps was in charge of Francis A. Smith. Jacobs was a driver and pump operator in the Navy during the war, and Smith, one of the first drivers in the fire department after it was motorized, has had more than 40 years' experience with trucks and pumps. The fire department has both types.

All of the old drivers were present for instructions and "brush up" on the operation of the pumps, and most of the prospective new drivers.

The veterans included John Codori, Richard Cole, Edward A. Culp, Clair Fouk, Glenn Guise, Raymond Menges, Donald Myers, Joseph McKendrick, Francis Smith, Stephen Smith, Kenneth Tawney and C. William Zhea.

Among the new "probationary" drivers attending were Ray Culp, Roy Milhines, John Murray, Billy Shealer, Julius Swope, Glenn Weishaar and others.

COAL RATIONING AND CUTBACKS ACROSS NATION

Pittsburgh, Jan. 18 (AP)—Coal rationing and industrial curtailments today rained new blows on the nation's economy in the seven-state strike of more than 90,000 soft coal miners.

The Retail Coal Merchants' Association of Pittsburgh said stocks are so low that coal will be rationed on a priority basis. Such essential users as hospitals will get first call.

The mammoth United States Steel Corporation announced new production cutback plans.

Telegraph Truman
The B. F. Goodrich Company of Akron, Ohio, fired off telegrams to President Truman and congressmen saying the rubber industry is threatened by coal and power shortages.

In Pittsburgh, President John P. Busarello of the United Mine Workers district five said his staff is out in the fields urging striking members to return to the pits Monday.

Busarello said no new word had been received from UMW President John L. Lewis but that his action was taken in line with Lewis' recent suggestion that full scale coal production be resumed. Week-end meetings are scheduled in scores of locals.

New Walkouts
U. S. Steel, which declined to say if it planned to make the January payment to the UMW pension and welfare fund, ordered its wheel and axle division at nearby McKees Rocks closed if a scheduled power curtailment goes into effect Friday.

Previously, four electric furnaces and five rolling mills were ordered down on an if basis.

Illinois coal producers are expected to make their UMW fund payments.

Although five Pennsylvania mines, employing 2,600 miners, resumed operations, Alabama and Kentucky reported new walkouts.

The number of Alabama miners rose 1,000 to 9,000. In Kentucky, the figure jumped from 7,500 to 11,000.

TO DEMONSTRATE NEW INHALATOR

Members of the rescue squad of the Gettysburg Fire department, and any other firemen interested, were asked today by Chief James A. Aumen to meet tonight at 7 o'clock at the engine house for a demonstration on the use of the new inhalator.

The new apparatus, which can be used in drowning cases or to revive persons overcome by smoke or gases, was purchased for the fire company recently by the Elks lodge of Gettysburg. A representative of the company from which it was purchased will demonstrate its use.

Members of the rescue squad include Chief Aumen, Assistant Chiefs Donald Jacobs and Donald McSherry and the following: Donald E. Staub, George Burgher, John Murray, Raymond Meneses, Ivan Breighner, Clarence Claybaugh, Raymond Bisheng, Eugene Sickles, Harold Culp, Richard Funkhouser, Richard Cole, C. William Zhea and Raymond W. ## Two Armored Cars Tangle In Square

Two army armored cars, headed from Fort Meade, Md., to Letterkenny, got themselves into an almost impossible position on Center square about 1:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon when the driver of the first armored car cut his wheels sharply to avoid hitting a truck.

The driver was headed north around the square when a truck pulled out of York street and headed into the square. To avoid a collision, the driver of the nine-ton armored car cut his wheels sharply to the left. He was towing another armored car. The second armored car forced itself under the rear of the first and turned it at a 90-degree angle, headed into the center of the square, while the second car was headed north.

A large number of volunteers surrounded the vehicles and after much puffing and shoving the two armored cars were separated.

Seek Gunmen

questioning, no charges were placed against them.

Shotgun-armed squadmen roared into Foxboro, a town between Boston and Providence, on a tip that four men wearing peajackets had entered a house there. The tip was worthless. The holdupmen wore Navy-type peajackets.

Descriptions Vague

"This job was definitely pulled by somebody who knew every inch of the company's layout," Fallon told reporters. "It's a tough job to pin down descriptions of the holdupmen," the superintendent added.

Descriptions given by witnesses varied. The best indicated that all were about five feet, nine inches, weighing approximately 180 pounds. Six wore rubbers, the seventh crepe-soled shoes. The purpose of these was to kill off sound as the desperadoes headed into the building.

No descriptions were obtained of the man, or men, who waited outside the garage to steer the getaway.

All police division commanders were ordered to pick up every ex-convict who had served time for armed robbery, along with all known holdupmen.

Police said the desperadoes apparently left the additional million behind because they were not prepared for such an enormous haul.

Reaching the wire enclosed vault room unobserved, one of the gunmen shouted: "Open up. This is a stickup. Don't give us any trouble."

Several of the robbers moved speedily into the room and scooped the money, all in paper bags, from the carts in the open vault. They stuffed the loot into laundry bags and disappeared as quickly as they entered.

Several company shotguns were on a rack in the company office. The employees didn't have a chance to get near them before they were covered by the grotesquely masked robbers.

Neatly Executed

Police Capt. John D. Ahearn of the special service squad said the robbery "was so neatly executed it must have been engineered by the cream of Boston's crime world."

A company spokesman said several employees have pass keys to doors in the garage and "possibly some former employees still have them."

The million dollars left behind included $300,000 in General Electric company funds and $120,000 from Filene's, one of Boston's biggest department stores.

Police Supt. Edward W. Fallon sharply criticized the firm for the "poor security it takes to protect such huge sums of money." A representative of the National Security Corporation reported that the loss is "fully covered" by insurance.

The stolen money had been collected from various business establishments during the day for bank deposit this morning.

Looked Into Seven Guns

Police said the holdupmen used an entrance along narrow Prince street in a tenement district in the north end. They climbed one flight of stairs and then opened the six doors to gain access to the vault.

Police said the doors usually open in response to a buzzer signal but the robbers did not sound any of the buzzers.

Thomas B. Lloyd, head cashier, said he came out of the vault to find himself looking into the muzzles of seven guns.

"I exclaimed 'Oh, my God,'" he said. "None of us had heard them approach because all of them—except one had shoes with crepe rubber soles—wore rubbers." The men all wore Navy-type peajackets, he said.

Brought Ropes Along

Lloyd said that Charles Grell, 44, a company messenger, was armed "but it would have been sure death for him to reach for his gun." "It would have been sure death for all of us," he said, "if I had reached into a nearby rack containing several sawed-off shotguns."

The gunmen all wore gloves and carried a length of corded rope, knotted at each end.

"They ordered us to lie face-down on the floor," Lloyd said. "As though they had planned it for a long time, they quickly tied our hands behind our backs and then tied our feet. Then they put strips of white masking tape over our mouths."

"They snapped up the money bags off the little wooden platform carts and dumped them into larger bags brought with them."

"When they talked, they spoke in low voices. None of their voices was distinguishable."

"While some were picking up the money bags, others went to a rack where we kept the pistols. They emptied the guns of bullets. When they had all the money they could carry, they beat it. The whole thing didn't take more than 20 minutes."

BAND TO REHEARSE

The Gettysburg Blue and Gray band will hold its regular rehearsal Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at its room at the rear of the fire engine house, East Middle street.

Liquid nitrogen will quickly chill a piece of metal to minus 320 degrees Fahrenheit.

Wildcats Jolt Warriors For South Penn Upset Win 37-26

The Gettysburg high cagers were knocked out of their tie for first place in the South Penn Basketball league Tuesday evening when the underdog Mechanicsburg high dished out a 37-26 setback to them at Mechanicsburg.

Sparked by Sonny Jacobs, who accounted for 19 points, the Wildcats took the lead in the second period and were never headed.

A pair of goals by Deardoff and Ford, coupled with a foul by Kuhn, gave the Warriors a 9-8 lead in the first period.

Five goals by Jacobs in the second frame sent the Mechanicsburg team out in front 23-14 at half time as the Warriors attack stalled. During the second period Davis landed Gettysburg's only goal while Deardoff came through with three foul consequences.

Both attacks bogged down somewhat in the final two frames. In the third period Mechanicsburg added seven points on goals by Badoff and Jacobs, and fouls by the same pair and Emel. Meanwhile Davis and Harriel landed goals for the Warriors and Deardoff netted a foul.

Each team netted seven tallies in the final frame. Deardoff, Ford and Kuhn scored twin-pointers for Gettysburg with Deardoff and Davis scoring from the free-throw line. A pair of goals by Jacobs, a single goal by Emel and a foul by Cornman enabled Mechanicsburg to protect its margin.

Coach Howard Shoemaker's jayvees put on a fast finish after trailing 12-5 at half time but lost the preliminary game 19-18.

Chambersburg and Waynesboro remained in a deadlock for the lead by scoring triumphs while Hershey whipped Shippensburg to send the Greyhounds into a tie with the Warriors.

On Friday the Forney-men will attempt to get back into their winning stride when Hanover high will be met here.

Boiling Springs high took over undisputed possession of first place in the Adams County Basketball league Tuesday evening by nosing out Littletown 30-28 on the latter's court.

The Bubblers got off to a 13-6 lead in the first period and then were forced to stave off a rush by the Thunderbolts in the final period.

The Boiling Springs reserves won the preliminary game 32-27.

Biglerville high knocked New Oxford from its unbeaten league rank by scoring a thrilling 24-20 victory before a large crowd on the Biglerville floor.

Coach Gene Haas' outfit clung to a slight lead throughout the hard fought tilt. Spicer and Heller paced the winners with Fridinger topping New Oxford, all scoring eight points.

The New Oxford reserves trounced the Canner reserves in the preliminary 28-8.

York Springs blew a 32-26 lead at the end of the third period and lost to Newville 39-33 at Newville.

Coach Kennedy's boys led throughout the entire first three periods but cracked in the final period when they tabbed but one foul while Newville poured 13 points through to grab the decision.

Chicago, Jan. 18 (AP)—The National Intercollegiate Athletic Conference set about proving today that it has teeth in its bite after all. It snapped back again at six violators of its sanity code—Virginia, Virginia Tech, Virginia Military Institute, Maryland, Boston College and Villanova.

They are barred from schedules and NCAA sponsored meets under the organization's constitution. It is as simple as that. At least, that is what the new NCAA president, Hugh C. Willett, of Southern California, and secretary-treasurer, K. L. (Tug) Wilson, Big Ten commissioner, think.

It is all a matter of reminding NCAA members that they brush up on the constitution and abide by what it says in black and white—the "conditions and obligations of membership" clause. This requires that members schedule intercollegiate contests "only with the institutions which conduct their athletic programs in conformity with the principles set forth in article three (the sanity code)."

After a stormy New York convention last week, many observers wondered where the NCAA's teeth were. Seven schools were branded as code violators, a charge which they admitted. When it came down to voting about their expulsion, they survived by a margin of 25 ballots.

Through a memorandum issued to members yesterday by two officials, the six violators (the Citadel no longer a member) were viewed as schools without good standing in the NCAA and thus subject to automatic schedule banning under the constitution until such time as the compliance committee finds they are upholding the code.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

COMEDIAN DE LUXE

There are no books more interesting and stimulating than those which tell of the life of a life. From earliest youth I have been fascinated by biographies. I have just read one that may be called unique—the story of W. C. Fields by Robert Lewis Taylor.

Few men ever experienced the sorrid and perplexed youth that Fields knew. It influenced his entire life and dogged him to the end. And yet from it he rose to both affluence and fame. Yet there was that spark within him that kept the fire of hope ever aflame. He became one of the greatest jugglers, if not the greatest, of all time. And he was a consummate artist in the bargain. He was Mr. Fields and no one else. He was Mr. Fields as Dickens portrayed him. Never shall I forget his masterful depicting of that character.

As comic and comedian, no other actor of his time excelled him. In his own way he sought perfection and allowed nothing to interfere with his own chosen method. He threw conventionalities and rules to the wind. He had a way, and that way he pursued. One time in London the doctors tried to keep him in a hospital, but Fields defied them, got up and went about his work. Said Taylor, his biographer: "People who knew him best believed that he defied the disease through the exercise of his extraordinary willpower. Fields often overcame illness by ignoring it. Like a horse, he considered himself well if he was on his feet."

Fields was undoubtedly one of the strangest performers in the entertainment world, but he delighted millions by his art and originality. He stood alone as one of the most fascinating of personalities. He spread himself over continents, and took the hand of great rulers whom he delighted. Royalty became one with "the tramp juggler."

It took some years before Fields was given his spot in the theatre that he merited, as an outstanding "star." But he had long deserved it. People who went to see and hear him, relaxed and laughed. This was his contribution to life, and it was a rich one. This story by Mr. Taylor brings back the pleasant memory of the old master and makes him live anew.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Keep Dipping In."

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

LIKE AS WE DO

He was a bitter man who found cold welcomes on his daily round. Men smiled at him but once, and then decided not to smile again. And since he spoke no friendly word, seldom a greeting gay he heard.

"Where'er I go clerks seem to be bothered to have to wait on me. They're all alike!" he'd often say. "There is no courtesy today. Most people pleasant? Shop or street, Only the churlish ones I meet."

We shape the world in which we live, Receiving as we think to give. This is a truth that's quickly learned: Who frowns will see a frown returned. Who will himself not gracious be, Few gracious folk will ever see.

Lions To Sponsor Barber Shop Quartet Contest; Community Chest Proposal Is Dropped

At their regular meeting Tuesday evening in the Ardenville grade school building, the Upper Adams County Lions club gave the go-ahead signal to a proposal brought forth by the club's music committee that it sponsor a barber shop quartet contest.

Tentative arrangements call for this event to take place in March in the Ardenville Memorial auditorium. Approximately nine quartet will be allowed to compete. This contest will be open to all clubs, civic organizations, church groups and independent quartet. In making the proposal, the committee stressed the increasing popularity of this type of music.

Guest of the club was Albert Frederick, a senior in the Upper Adams Joint high school. Frederick has maintained a high scholastic standing and has been active in dramatics, public speaking, school publications and band and has been a home room president.

Drop Community Chest
Lion Elmer Yoder reported the findings of a committee appointed to investigate the possibility of establishing a Community Chest in the Upper Community. Mr. Yoder said that since there is no large local project to create real enthusiasm and support of a Community Chest and since the size of the budget probably would not exceed $5,000, which would thus entail a high percentage of expense, the committee did not deem the creation of a Community Chest advisable. The committee's recommendation was accepted by the club.

After extensive discussion on whether a record of the board of directors, which put the club on record as not sponsoring the Scout troops in this area, should be rescinded the club voted to rescind that action. No new proposal was presented. To be a sponsor of a Scout troop, the club is responsible for providing leadership, but not financial aid. Samuel Ehlman, a Lion active in Scout work, and Bruce Sheats, chairman of the Boys' and Girls' committee, which was assigned to make a survey on the Scout troops in the area, concurred on the assertion that the most urgent need of the local Scout movement is not money, but leadership.

Receive 4 Members
Four new members were received into the Lions club by Lion Samuel Ehlman. They were Robert Shafer, sponsored by Ryland Garrettson; Russell Gilbert, sponsored by J. Ralph Stoner; Bruce Taylor, sponsored by Elmer Yoder, and Ralph Pitzer, sponsored by Charles Taylor. Donald Boserman reported that the next club meeting on the first Tuesday in February would be a club visitation to the Dillsburg Lions club. During the evening a game, "Monte Carlo," will be played. The second meeting in February will be held in the new American Legion home.

Ralph Tyson, Robert Wentz and Thomas Cline of the Safety committee were in charge of the program. A film, "Apples All American," was shown through the sponsorship of the Appalachian Apples, Inc.

Weaving Department Formed At Biglerville

The craft industry at Guernsey recently cooperated with the Biglerville high school in starting a weaving department at the school, headed by Mrs. Mary Diehl.

The first student, Pat Phillips, after weaving a dress for Mrs. Osma Gallinger, Guernsey, decided to weave some things of her own. Other students caught her enthusiasm and a weaving project in the Home Economics division resulted with a plan for weaving 40 yards of drapery material for the new "Home Ec" room. The county supervisor recently was photographed with the class and the pictures were sent to the Farm Show to demonstrate what the girls of this region are doing.

Mrs. Osma Gallinger, after helping the girls get started on their loom, left for Rochester, N. Y., where she conducted the winter program for the Rochester and Buffalo weaving guilds in the art museum of Rochester.

Her new book, "The Joy of Handweaving," comes off the press January 30 and will be used in many schools throughout the United States. The publishers, the International Textbook Company of Scranton, are also issuing a trade edition for home hobbyists.

PROBING WILD REPORTS FROM CARIBBEAN AREA

By NORMAN CARIGNAN
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Assorted gun running, filibustering, plotting and other tricks of the political trade in the Caribbean are currently undergoing a searching investigation by a special five-nation committee.

The tale that this group of hard-working diplomats will uncover will undoubtedly make your favorite "whodunit" seem pale by comparison. Already much of the story has come out through a blistering cross-fire of charges, counter-charges and denials of varying intensity.

Amazing Stories
Attempts to launch sea-borne and air-borne invasions of the Dominican Republic, a secret meeting in a village church, assassination, bomb and poison plots have all been brought into the amazing drama.

Just what the truth is in all this is the specific job of the fact-finding committee now at work in Washington.

The committee is made up of representatives of the Organization of American States (OAS) from the United States, Uruguay, Bolivia, Ecuador and Colombia. The OAS used to be called the Pan American Union. Its main aim is to keep peace in the Western Hemisphere. Its major weapon is the Rio Mutual Defense Treaty. All 21 American republics are members.

Recall Walker Escapades
On January 9 the OAS Council, alarmed over charges of more plotting, invoked the Rio Treaty and set the committee to work investigating the whole Caribbean situation.

The bizarre tale of plotting which the committee is trying to unravel surpasses, in technique at least, the filibustering activities of William Walker, who is perhaps as well known in Central America as any other American.

Walker, a Tennessean, organized four expeditions during the middle 1800s. One sailed from San Francisco, two others from Mobile and a fourth from Mexican territory which he had grabbed. At one time he managed to gain control of Nicaragua.

Use Hot Airplanes
Today's Caribbean expeditions are based on the hottest airplanes revolutionaries can get hold of. The only sailing venture occurred in the summer of 1947, when an assortment of 1,600 exiles, known as the Caribbean Legion, organized an expedition at Cayo Confites, Cuba, against the Dominican Republic.

Cuban police broke it up before the Legion set out in some surplus landing craft and small boats.

The Legion came back into the news last June when an American PBY Catalina aircraft was destroyed at Luperon, on the north coast of the Dominican Republic, after those aboard tried to unload munitions. All 15 aboard were either killed or captured, including three Americans.

Harrisburg, Jan. 18 (AP)—A 48-year-old man was killed last night when he was buried under tons of mud and rock as a sewer ditch collapsed in suburban Progress. Charles Wilson, of nearby Highspire, was laying pipe in the bottom of the nine-foot ditch when the wet earth, weakened by a water line break, caved in on top of him.

Downingtown, Pa., Jan. 18 (AP)—A premature explosion of a charge of dynamite along a section of the new extension of the Pennsylvania turnpike killed a 40-year-old dynamite driller helper. Chester County Coroner Creston Shoemaker said the blast yesterday killed Howard T. Hopkins, of Eagle, Pa., as preparations were being made to blast away rock for the new highway.

SOLDIER DIES IN BRUSH FIRE

Colorado Springs, Colo., Jan. 18

(AP)—Flames flickered out today from a wind driven brush fire that lashed through Camp Carson yesterday, killing one soldier, seriously burning 27 others and destroying 39 buildings.

The fire started in the foothills of the Rockies southwest of here before dawn yesterday. In less than 16 hours, gale force winds had driven the flames nearly 10 miles to within striking distance of the small town of Fountain, south of here.

Shortly after sunset the winds subsided and some of the 7,000 volunteers who had toiled throughout the day brought the flames to a standstill just north of Fountain.

Through last night a slight breeze blew northward causing the fire to head back over the scorched brush and timberland. Authorities said it would soon burn itself out if the wind didn't change. Camp Carson officials said there were only "spot" fires in the vast military reservation.

Six of the 21 hospitalized soldiers were reported in critical condition from burns. The others were in serious condition. Their names were unavailable because records had been transferred when flames threatened the entire camp of more than 1,300 buildings. The camp housed 30,000 troops in wartime.

Speed Relief Staff To Coal Families

Uniontown, Pa., Jan. 18 (AP)—

Pleas for speeding relief to needy coal mine families in Fayette and nearby counties are expected to bring action within 24 hours.

Riley Litman, executive director for the Department of Public Assistance in Fayette county, expects about 15 additional workers to arrive from eastern counties to help out with the rush. Litman said his office is set up to process only about 125 applications daily.

"We accepted 122 applications and made 413 future appointments on Monday," he said. "Yesterday we accepted 119 applications and made 402 appointments."

Litman said, "We now have future appointments running into February. We hope to get caught up on these soon after our additional help arrives."

Philadelphia, Jan. 18 (AP)—G. Mason Owlett, Republican national committeeman, has accepted an invitation to a slate-making meeting at Hershey, Pa., January 28 extended by followers of Gov. ## TRUMAN BILLS MAY NEVER GET CONGRESS VOTE

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—Some of President Truman's program may get slaughtered without ever coming to a vote. Here's why:

A great many bills are introduced in the House every year. The House doesn't have time to consider all of them.

Which shall it choose? Long ago it set up a committee of its members called the Rules committee.

This committee was supposed to act as a funnel through which bills would be let out on the floor for debate and vote.

If the committee wanted to kill a bill by refusing to let it out, that just about killed it. It took a petition signed by a majority of the House members to jar loose a bill turned down by the Rules committee.

Great Complaints
For many years there were great complaints against this kind of power given to one little group of committeemen.

Along came the election of President Truman in 1948 with his Fair Deal program and particularly that part of it which promised new civil

East Berlin

East Berlin—Diane, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester C. Hurley, has been confined to bed due to a severe cold.

These women have been elected as officers of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the local Liberty fire company: President, Mrs. Oram C. Altland; vice president, Mrs. William D. Gibbs, Jr.; secretary, Miss M. Grace Stambaugh, assisted by Mrs. Russell Lucabaugh; treasurer, Mrs. Paul E. Jacobs, assisted by Mrs. George Oberlander; financial secretary, Mrs. Charles A. Menges, and chaplain, Mrs. J. Calvin Lerew.

The Mile society of Zwilling Rights laws, mostly for the benefit of Negroes.

Mr. Truman's Democrats won control of the House, too. So when this Congress began its session in January, 1949, the Trumanites looked at the make-up of the Rules committee.

There were 12 members on it: eight Democrats and four Republicans. But—four of those eight Democrats were Southern Democrats.

They Did It In '49
If the four Southern Democrats teamed up with the four Republicans, that would put the Trumanite Democrats of four in a small minority.

Well, the majority of the men in Congress decided they'd take that kind of power away from the Rules committee. And the House established a new rule. This was it:

If the Rules committee has sat on a bill for 21 days, it can be called up in the House anyway.

That's what happened in 1949. But now suddenly a majority of the Rules committee—Southern Democrats teaming up with Republicans—want their old power back.

Committee May Win
They voted the other day to ask the full House to vote this year on whether the Rules committee can have back its old power to sit on a bill indefinitely.

The Rules committee may win, in spite of President Truman's protests over the maneuver. This is one of the reasons:

There's a bill in Congress to give veterans a bonus. This comes at a time when Congress is shouting economy.

If that bill gets out on the floor for a vote—since this is the year when all 435 House members must stand for re-election and face the voters on their record—a majority of the House may vote for it through fear of antagonizing the veteran vote.

News Of Interest To Home Builders---

3-Bedroom House Offers Upkeep Economy

There's a note of modernity in the style of "The Tipton," a 3-bedroom house design by the Home of the Week Plan Service. Yet this low, crisp white dwelling lacks the radical lines which make so many so-called "modern" homes inappropriate to the average residential neighborhood.

The low-built features of The Tipton mean economy in maintenance, for the ordinary handyman-owner could carry out his own repainting and repair work on such a home. In these days of high labor costs, this is a point worthy of consideration.

The house has an over-all measure of 35 x 35 feet. Thus a 50-foot front lot would be necessary as a minimum site. A corner location was chosen for the example pictured. Here the exterior walls were wide clapboards, painted white; a good contrast for the black asphalt shingled roof. Walls could be stuccoed, shingled or of masonry construction if desired.

Cubage of this house is 22,800 feet.

Has Small Entry Hall
A stock pattern front door with glazed top panels opens into a small, square entry hall which gets additional light from a porthole-type window. There is a coat closet in the hall, opposite the front door. At the right an open archway looks in on the 18 x 12-foot living room.

The narrow inside wall of this room contains a fireplace flanked by built-in bookcases. The large picture window on the front of the house floods the room with daylight. The long inside wall is broken only by a door leading to an L-shaped rear hall.

Bedrooms and bathroom are off this hall. A linen closet, clothes closet and broom closet are located in this hall area.

The bedrooms are 13 x 11, 12 x 11 and 12 x 7 feet. The two larger rooms each have windows on two exposures and extra large clothes closets. The bathroom is between these two rooms. It also contains a large storage closet.

The small bedroom, which could be used as a den, has a double window looking out to the rear yard area. This room also has a large clothes closet. A long unbroken corner wall space suggests use of a built-in bunk for this room if it is to be used as a child's bedroom.

Large Windows in Dining Room
The dining room and kitchen are located in the projecting wing of the house at the left of the front entrance. This makes possible placement of two large windows in the 10 x 10-foot dining room, connected with the living room by a wide open arch. A built-in china cabinet fills one corner beside the living room archway.

The 17 x 10-foot kitchen, on the rear of the house, has a built-in breakfast nook, under a high window, at the left of the swinging door from a dining room. Beyond this nook, a U-shaped working counter and sink, with wall cabinets above, fills the wall space, ending at the service entry on the rear of the house. Beside this door another door closes off a landing at the head of the cellar stairs. Refrigerator and stove are lined against the room's inside wall by this door. A door to the rear hall opens at the right of the stove's location.

Full Cellar
The full cellar of The Tipton will have the heating plant placed under the small bedroom or den, and laundry facilities under the kitchen. Space beneath the living room could be partitioned off into a recreation room.

In some locations, it might be possible to limit cellar excavation to the area under the den, kitchen, dining and living rooms; with partial excavation made under the two larger

Avoid Squeaky Floors With Building Felt

In a mystery story or a thriller movie a creaking floor can be most effective. But in a home there's nothing more irritating. Even a single noisy board can become most annoying.

"In our former home we had hardwood floors and they were squeaky," writes a Sunday Journal reader. "What made them squeak? How can we prevent this in building our new house?"

In all probability, the floor in the old house was laid when the boards were dry. Afterward they absorbed moisture and swelling loosened the nails that held them to the sub-floor. When the floors dried out later the boards worked along the nails and squeaks resulted.

Much of this trouble can be overcome by putting building felt between the sub and finish floors. This keeps moisture from working up from the basement and damaging the floor finish.

Gay Colors Possible For Cement Surfaces

The appeal of gay colors may be extended to cement surfaces through the use of special cement paints.

More practical than ordinary paints for the purpose, special cement paint contains no materials that would be affected by the chemical action of lime, alkali, or water. Besides cement, the paint is adaptable for use on stucco, masonry, cement block, brick, stone and tile.

Widely used for painting the interiors of basements, some types of cement paints can be applied on fresh plaster or concrete without waiting for the material to dry.

Full insulation of ceiling area and walls is advised for a house such as this. The architect also suggests a location that faces from west to northeast.

Complete plans and specifications for "The Tipton" and other houses in this series are available at moderate cost. To ascertain the exact prices of these documents, write to the Home Building Editor, The Gettysburg Times, and enclose a self-addressed envelope bearing a 3-cent stamp. At least one week should be allowed for a reply.

SIMPLE DEVICES IMPROVE HOME

The "hominess" of the average house can be increased, and at the same time its market value may be raised, by adding relatively inexpensive features which, although simple devices, can become so important that living in the home will revolve around them.

While the fireplace is usually the focal point of the living room, in many of the older types of houses it is often dingy and unattractive. Modern decorators have devised the use of paint, new mantels, or large mirrors.

Another way to style a living room is through installing a large "picture window." A large window allowing a clear, undistorted view of the landscape tends to bring the outdoors into the house and form a large living picture. Frequently its effect is to turn an otherwise undistinguished house into a show-place, while at the same time providing additional natural light.

BRIGHTENS DULL CORNER

fin will do its duty until it wears off, when it may be replenished. Remember this when you have that painting done this fall.

How To Plan Size Of Dining Room

If a separate dining room is provided in a home, its shape and size are largely dependent on the necessary furniture and space for serving persons at the table.

At least one unbroken wall space should be provided for a sideboard and sufficient wall space elsewhere to care for extra chairs. The tendency has been, in small quarters, to eliminate large dining rooms in favor of dining alcoves. Often opened into the living room, they permit a varied use of the dining space, provide an effect of spaciousness, and give added light and ventilation to the living area.

In many instances dining space in kitchens is appropriate, as well as dining space in living rooms.

SEE IT! NOW ON DISPLAY!

One Minute TO PUT ON IMPLEMENTS
NEW EAGLE HITCH
EASIEST 3-POINT HOOK-UP YOU EVER SAW

THE NEW LOW-COST TWO-PLOW "VAC" CASE TRACTOR

Tractors equipped with a new 3-point hitch and hydraulic implement control have been put on display. With this new "Eagle Hitch," a plow or any one of a variety of rear-mounted "latch-on" implements can be hitched or unhitched in a minute or so, with no need for the driver to get off the tractor seat.

The new hydraulic control is "practically fool-proof," since it is not subject to air locks and is entirely independent of clutch and power take-off. Mounted on the engine, the self-priming pump operates whenever the engine is running. Implements may be raised and lowered regardless of whether the tractor is traveling or standing in gear or out. The hydraulic fluid supply is never a problem, because the unit uses ordinary motor oil.

A single control lever near the driver's right hand raises and lowers any "latch-on" implement. The design of the "Eagle Hitch" itself keeps the implement working at uniform depth in spite of rough ground or hard or soft spots in the field. A short movement of the control lever will change implement settings to meet unusual field conditions without stopping or slowing the tractor. A handy turnbuckle sets plow depth for normal operation.

The low-cost two-plow "VAC" Case tractors now carry the new hitch and hydraulic control as regular equipment. We also will have plows and other "latch-on" implements of types used in this area.

WHEN PROOF WILL COUNT

You may call it a minor motor accident, but you'll have to prove you are good for $11,000—when the new law goes into effect (applies to non-residents, too). Cash or bond will do it. Chapter 11
He looked at her with sharpened interest. "I might not be a good partner for anybody — you know why?"

"I know," she agreed. "But that's what makes you desirable in my eyes. You've got to fight, and you're a fighter. I'm in the same boat." "It's that's the way you feel about it, I'll go with you," he agreed.

She was holding out her hand to him. Valse gripped it warmly, noting how hard and competent it was.

"I said, 'I'll tell the boys to get the lead on the move.'"

Armin Zachary was essentially a staid man. There had been certain objectives which he had long since set for himself, goals toward which he had striven for years. To keep on working toward them now would be a risky matter. But that did not lessen his determination to get what he wanted.

It was that way now in regard to Saralee. Deep down, he had finally admitted to himself that he did not love her, as he knew that she did not love him. What he had wanted, always, was to take her away from Valse, just as he coveted everything which was his cousin's. But that was still as good a reason as any for marrying her. And when she came to him with the suggestion that, under the circumstances, the wedding should at least be postponed, quick suspicion and old stubbornness flared in him.

"Of course we won't postpone it," he protested. "If we did, folks would think that we believed that he really was Valse."

Saralee looked at him and hesitated. And she knew, watching Zachary in this moment, that he knew as well as she did that it was Trib Valse himself who had returned, and no impostor. Suddenly she saw Zachary in a new light. Whatever things Trib might have done during the years that he had been missing, and Zachary had hinted at dark things, still the Gun belonged to him. And how was Armin Zachary any better than his cousin, if he schemed now to keep the Gun for himself?

"We both knew that he really is Trib," she said quietly. "And that alters things, you know."

"How?" Zachary demanded. "What's different from yesterday or a week ago? He's still a renegade and a killer, and wanted by the law. And if he stays here, it'll catch up with him, sooner or later."

"Why should it catch up with him here, any faster than anywhere else?" Saralee asked. "Unless someone was told where to look for him? I think he'd be safer here, under his own name and among friends, than anywhere else."

"Maybe so," Zachary shrugged. "But leaving all that aside, everybody is expecting the wedding to take place tomorrow," he went on. "Everything's ready. We've got to go through with it."

"We can't," Saralee said steadily. "I still love him. I know that now, Armin."

Zachary pretended to be aghast. "Do you mean to say that you'd still marry him knowing him for what he is, a criminal?"

"I don't know that he's a criminal at all," Saralee protested sharply. "But since he's alive, and I know that I still love him—you wouldn't want me to marry you under those circumstances, would you? I couldn't give you anything, Armin. I hate to hurt you. And I'm sorry that things have happened this way. But it's better to be honest now, rather than after it's all too late."

Desperation surged in Zachary. To see anything slipping from his grasp always had that effect on him, making him the more determined to have it. He spoke roughly. "But what about me and my feelings? Don't I count at all?"

"Of course, Armin. I'm sorry."

Saralee's voice was contrite. "But you can see that it wouldn't work. Not now. It will be better just to forget it."

Well, I don't intend to forget it. Not for a minute," he told her sharply. "You've promised to marry me. I haven't released you from that promise. And I expect you to keep it."

"I do mean it," he insisted doggedly. "I'm not going to be made a laughing stock before the whole country. They'd know then that you believed his claim, and I'd be completely in the wrong. I won't have it."

"But you are in the wrong," Saralee reminded him. "After all, he is back, and the Gun belongs to him. He's your cousin. The only fair thing is to let him have it back."

"I'm not giving the Gun up to any renegade," Zachary said furiously. "Any more than I'm giving you up."

That tore the mask pretty well aside. Saralee looked at him in growing understanding, and there was scorn in her eyes now.

"So that's all that you ever wanted—to steal what Trib had," she exclaimed. "That's all that you've ever wanted of me, too, isn't it? I'm going straight to Trib and tell him the truth—the whole truth."

She was turning away when Zachary caught her arm. His grip was so savage that it tore a little cry of pain from her.

"Not so fast," he growled. "If you tell anything like that, everybody will know about those reward dollars by tomorrow, and he won't live the day out!"

"Let me go! You're hurting me," she blazed at him. "Oh, you're a cad, Armin Zachary!"

"Maybe I am, but I'm getting what I want, one way or the other."

NAFL OWNERS TO TALK RULES

Philadelphia, Jan. 18 (AP)—Owners of the National-American Football league will scrimmage tonight in the preliminary event of the newly organized circuit's founding meeting.

The initial battle of words is expected at the rules committee meeting where a number of clubs, supported by Hugh L. Ray, league technical adviser, will attempt to abolish the tackle eligible play.

This play was used chiefly last year by Clark Shaughnessy's Los Angeles Rams, champions of the old National Football league's western division. It involves an end dropping back off the line to make a tackle eligible to receive a forward pass.

Ray's Waterfield of the Rams was successful in tackling Dick Huffman as end Tom Fears made a halfback. The other coaches claim the play as new rule is illegal.

NAFL Commissioner Bert Bell says the manner in which the play is run deceives his officials and forces them to concentrate too much on it, thus leaving the way open for other infractions.

Bell said the new league would operate under the old NFL constitution and under NFL rules. "I don't expect any other vital rule changes. There may be some technical revisions in interpretation but that's about all. Both the NFL and the old All America conference played under practically the same code."

HAILS NEW GAS STRIKE IN PENNA.

Harrisburg, Jan. 18 (AP)—A new mile-deep natural gas strike in Clinton county has "more than average significance," State Geologist S. H. Cathcart said today.

"It makes other likely locations in Pennsylvania more attractive to prospecting," he explained. Cathcart listed the other places as the Hyner area in Clinton county and Cogan House and Rose Valley in Lycoming county.

A $50,000 company formed by a group of Renovo businessmen was successful in hitting a rich natural gas deposit recently near Leidy, 17 miles west of Renovo. The well's capacity is estimated at about 15,000,000 cubic feet daily.

The state geologist said the Leidy well is "considerably beyond what is considered the productive belt," adding: "It should lead to other ventures in the Oriskany sand area."

The Criskany sand was described by Cathcart as a sandstone deposit suited to capturing underground gas deposits. It is about 5,000 to 6,000 feet down in most of northwestern and north-central Pennsylvania but outcrops to the surface in a line running from Williamsport southwest to Clearfield. An outcropping, explained Cathcart, nullifies its value as a natural gas source since it would have long since escaped.

A state geologic survey showed that as early as 1932 the Leidy area was a good prospect for natural gas drilling, the geologist said, since there were sandstone "domes" known to be in the vicinity.

A state geologic survey showed that as early as 1932 the Leidy area was a good prospect for natural gas drilling, the geologist said, since there were sandstone "domes" known to be in the vicinity.

The Criskany sand was described by Cathcart as a sandstone deposit suited to capturing underground gas deposits. It is about 5,000 to 6,000 feet down in most of northwestern and north-central Pennsylvania but outcrops to the surface in a line running from Williamsport southwest to Clearfield. An outcropping, explained Cathcart, nullifies its value as a natural gas source since it would have long since escaped.

Plan Part-time Tester

Under the program, Gilmore said, the state will provide for free vaccination of all cattle against brucellosis. Herd owners should contact their veterinarians, Gilmore said. The veterinarian has application forms to be filled out and sent to the Bureau of Animal Industry. When the application is approved the state will pay the veterinarian to make up to six trips a year to the farm to vaccinate calves between the ages of six and eight months, the time during which the vaccination is to be given. Because up to six trips are authorized, every calf can be vaccinated, Gilmore said.

The DHIA also voted to employ a new part-time tester for the Littlestown-Hanover area, thus permitting a number of herds in that area to join the County Dairy Herd Improvement association. Those wishing the testing service should contact the local Adams County Extension office at the court house here.

and Mrs. Curvin Hollinger. A vocal duet, "Whispering Hope" was sung by Mrs. Melvin Miller and Mrs. Robert Miller accompanied on the piano by Louise Duttera. A guest package presented by Miss Helen Myers was received by Mrs. Arthur Straley.

Louise Duttera presented the secretary's report and Mrs. George Dehoff, the treasurer's report. The class voted a contribution of $5 to the March of Dimes. A food sale will be conducted by the class on Friday afternoon beginning at 4 o'clock in the store room of J. Arthur Boyd, East King street.

Refreshments were served to the 21 members present by the hostess, Mrs. Theron W. Spangler. The next meeting will be held at the church on Monday, February 20, when the program and hostess committee will be: Miss Helen Wisotzky, Mrs. Brenda Walker, Mrs. Ralph Reaver, and Mrs. Melvin Wehler.

A covered dish social was held by the Girls' Guild of St. Paul's Lutheran church on Monday evening in the social hall. A short business meeting was conducted by the president, Miss Ruth Staub. The next meeting will be held in the church social hall on Monday, February 20 with the committee to be announced later.

The semi-monthly meeting of the Littlestown Lions' club will be held Thursday evenings at 7 o'clock in Bankert's restaurant, South Queen street. The program will be in charge of the Community Betterment committee which consists of Dr. Samuel L. Bucke, William W. Thomas and John N. Sell.

Mrs. Samuel Renner, M street will be hostess to the Alta Hummer Missionary society of St. John's Lutheran church, Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. This meeting has been postponed from last week on account of the preaching mission. Mrs. William Lippy will be the leader and there will also be a white elephant sale.

'Military Necessity' Cited By Communists

Toyo, Jan. 18 (AP)—Radio Peiping said tonight "military necessity" prompted Chinese communist seizure of American, French and Dutch barracks and other buildings in Peiping last week-end.

The radio added the governments concerned had "consented" to the seizures. (The seizures prompted the United States to recall all State Department officials from Red China.)

The communist statements were made in a Chinese language broadcast. It was monitored here by Kyodo News agency.

After mentioning "consent," however, the Red radio said the three governments' "former consuls" in the Red China capital had "yielded" to communist demands for the buildings.

The broadcast said the Chinese Reds presented their demands for the properties on January 6 on the ground "the United States, Britain and France relinquished their special interests based on unfair treaties and yet their military establishments continued to stay in China."

AUTOPSY HELPS BUILD FACTS IN GIRL'S SLAYING

Lancaster, Pa., Jan. 18 (AP)—State police said today they are convinced pretty Marian Louise Baker, Franklin and Marshall college stenographer, was bludgeoned to death a short time after she disappeared January 10.

The battered body of the 21-year-old girl was found last Saturday under a summer cottage two miles south of Lancaster.

Miss Baker was seen entering a car near the Lancaster post office about 2 p. m. on January 10. When found, her smashed wrist watch was stopped at 2:35.

Died Within Hour
Yesterday, Dr. George J. Held, Jr., Lancaster county coroner, said the amount of dehydration in the body "did not indicate any great length of time between the actual murder and the time at which it was discovered." This theory pointed to the possibility the girl may have been slain a day or more after disappearance.

However, state police said last night an examination of the girl's watch and analysis of the contents of her stomach convinced them she met her last within an hour after she was last seen on a Lancaster street corner.

Authorities said a watch expert told them only seven hours had elapsed between the time the girl's time piece was last wound and the moment it stopped.

The chemical analysis showed, they added, that Miss Baker's stomach contained only food she was known to have eaten at lunch before her disappearance.

Harrisburg, Jan. 18 (AP)—An unofficial low bid of $2,083,467 was received late yesterday by the state Forest and Waters Department for new work on the Schuylkill river desilting project. At the same time, S. J. Groves, Downingtown, submitted a $131,990 bid for construction of the proposed Tamaqua silt impounding basin.

Attlee Promises Socialist Course
London, Jan. 18 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee's Labor party today promised to keep Britain on its socialist course with new nationalization of industry and continued rationing and price controls—Laborites retain power in the February 23 elections.

The pledges were made in a 6,000-word manifesto containing the campaign platform of the socialist-minded Labor party. Principal aim of the Labor program, said the manifesto, was full employment.

The policy declaration sharply rapped Winston Churchill's Conservative party which is bidding for reinstatement on the promise of steering the country out of socialist waters back to free enterprise.

the money for the first farm show building which was used for the first time in 1931. The building covered about nine acres. Since that time the show has expanded until today's buildings cover more than 14 acres, with a 30-acre parking space.

A Farm Show has been held every year since 1917, except that during the war years, from 1943 to 1946 inclusive, it was held only in the form of educational meetings. The army leased the Farm Show building.

"There are a number of farm organizations which hold their annual meetings during Farm Show week," Mr. Dummire continued. He listed some of them as the Bee Keepers association, 4-H clubs, Christmas Tree growers, Holstein Breeders, Poultry association, nut growers and farm women's organizations. "There are about 25 of these organizations, all of which have a purpose and serve a definite need," he said.

Mr. Dummire pointed out that the Farm Show provides many things of general interest to persons other than farmers. He described the opening of the show on Monday night by the governor, and the state police rode; the rural talent festival on Tuesday night, in which 700 farm people participate from 20 counties; the horse-pulling contests on Wednesday night; the parade of livestock winners on Thursday night and the log-sawing and horseshoe-

"Many of our own people from Adams county display their apples, corn, potatoes, hogs, baby beaves, poultry, products of the home and other articles at the Farm Show," Mr. Dummire said.

"Pennsylvania ranks comparatively low in farm acreage," the speaker said. "Thirty-one states have more farm land in cultivation than Pennsylvania, but only 13 states exceed Pennsylvania in the value of their farm products. Only California has a more diversified farm program."

The speaker was introduced by Glenn Guise, president of the club, who presided. Fifteen members were in attendance, including one new member, Richard Swope, York street service station proprietor.
